From the Mayor

Dear Neighbors,

As we continue to invest in and improve our City's parks and green spaces, it remains a priority to provide safe, family-friendly places for residents to gather with friends and neighbors. Boasting more than 170 parks, parklets, playgrounds and recreational spaces, there are countless ways to enjoy a safe, fun and exciting summer in the City of Pittsburgh.

We have made great progress in recent years to develop City programs and services that make living in Pittsburgh more enjoyable for all residents. From welcoming our fourth new spray park this summer to increasing riverfront trails three-fold to more than 75 miles of trails, we've made great strides in providing free, fun ways to enjoy the summer weather. This year we're committing over $16 million to fund essential quality-of-life services—from dekhockey rinks and spray parks, to recreation and senior centers, to playgrounds and ball fields.

Whether you're looking for a relaxing concert or movie in the park, a fun day in the sun for the family or sporting opportunities for all ages—I hope that you and your family will take full advantage of the many great opportunities that surround us here in America's "Most Livable City."

Sincerely,

IN MEMORY OF... Moses Carper (1931 - 2012)

Citiparks celebrates the life and accomplishments of Moses Carper, a longtime supporter of Riverview Park programs and events—and the talented horseman who oversaw the park's equestrian program.

The Observatory Hill resident was a founding member of Friends of Riverview Park and played a key role in organizing Citiparks' annual Riverview Park Heritage Day.

Mr. Carper's community service included serving as president of Observatory Hill, Inc. and working as a Pittsburgh Parks Conservancy eco-steward. He maintained stables in the northeast corner of Riverview Park and established a non-profit organization, Chiyou Corral, to provide inner-city youth with an opportunity to experience equestrian activities in an urban setting.

EVENTS

Riverview Park Heritage Day

Enjoy a day of adventure and exploration at Riverview Park Heritage Day!

This popular annual event showcases Riverview Park, an urban oasis just north of Downtown Pittsburgh that is home to the landmark Allegheny Observatory as well as an extensive network of trails enjoyed by hikers, joggers and horseback riders alike.

During the Heritage Day celebration, explore nature by viewing rare birds from the National Aviary, meeting furry friends from the Animal Rescue League and Humane Society and discovering something unique and absolutely cool at the Carnegie Science Center booth.

Greet McGruff the Crime Dog and a real K-9 dog as the Department of Public Safety's SWAT, Police and Fire divisions offer interactive and educational experiences for all ages.

Throughout the park grounds, children scale the climbing wall, adults receive advice from health professionals and families tour the Observatory—to name just a few of the day's many activities. And everyone enjoys free refreshments.

The grounds of the Chapel Shelter—just a short walk from the Activities Building—are transformed into Fort Heritage! Children experience life on the American frontier by riding horses, painting totem poles, making trail mix, designing feather hair ties and much more.

PARKS

Regional Parks

Emerald View Park, Mt. Washington/Allentown/Duquesne Heights

The newest of Pittsburgh's major parks—which encircles Mount Washington and Duquesne Heights—offers an urban wilderness experience for the slightly more adventurous. Its 257 acres combine lush green woodlands, trails, playgrounds, playing fields and majestic views from all sides. Highlights include trail tours, festivals and much more. For details visit www.mwcdc.org.

Frick Park, Squirrel Hill/Point Breeze

Frick Park is the largest of the City's five major parks. Numerous trails located throughout the park's steep valleys and wooded slopes are ideal for solitary hikes. Other highlights include the Frick Environmental Center, playgrounds, the only red clay tennis courts in western Pennsylvania, and the only public lawn bowling green in the state!

Highland Park, Highland Park

The 3/4-mile walkway—overlooking a restored fountain and entry garden located at the park's main entrance—is one of many popular features of this East End park, which also includes the City's only long-course swimming pool and a cycling track. Other highlights include the Pittsburgh Zoo & PPG Aquarium, Lake Carnegie, sand volleyball courts, trails, picnic shelters and tennis courts.

Riverview Park, Perry North/Brighton Heights/Observatory Hill

Riverview Park is an urban park nestled between several neighborhoods just north of Downtown Pittsburgh. The park's extensive network of trails serves as a popular destination for hikers, joggers and horseback riders. Other highlights include the landmark Allegheny Observatory, swimming pool, picnic shelters and "space age" playground located near the observatory.

Schenley Park, Oakland/Squirrel Hill

The Schenley Oval Sportsplex features 13 tennis courts, all-weather track and soccer field, with an adjacent ice skating rink. An 18-hole disc golf course winds its way through the park's wooded areas. Other highlights include Phipps Conservatory and Botanical Gardens, Panther Hollow Lake, Bob O'Connor Golf Course, swimming pool, trails, playgrounds and picnic shelters.

RAD Works Here!

This year, $5.9 million of your RAD sales tax dollars will support the City of Pittsburgh's five regional parks (see opposite page). RAD funds are used for everyday maintenance and major projects such as playgrounds and sports courts. From recreation to relaxation, our parks are great places to spend time. Find out more at www.RadWorksHere.org or facebook.com/radworkshere. Get weekly text alerts about RAD-funded assets by texting RAD to SMASH (76274).

PLANPGH

One of 12 components of PLANPGH, OpenSpacePGH is our City's first ever comprehensive guide for the optimal use of its vacant, green and recreational spaces. This plan provides guidance for land use and infrastructure decisions relating to the ownership, management, maintenance, connectivity and programming of Pittsburgh's parks and open space systems over the next 25 years. Learn more at www.PlanPgh.com.

Pittsburgh Parks Conservancy

The Pittsburgh Parks Conservancy improves the quality of life for the people of Pittsburgh by restoring the park system to excellence with government and community partners. Restoration efforts are conducted with environmental sensitivity and respect for the historic landscape design and recreational needs of modern users. A Parks are Free website (ParksAreFree.com) and MyPGH Parks, a new mobile application for phones that will launch later this summer, provide real time user information. Both are funded by the UPMC Health Plan. For information about the Parks Conservancy projects and programming schedules at the parks, call 412-682-7275 or visit www.PittsburghParks.org.

Schenley Plaza 4100 Forbes Ave.

Oakland's green centerpiece offers a beautiful lawn and gardens, a variety of dining options, a shade tent, free wireless Internet and the popular PNC Carousel. There's something for everyone, including live music, kids' programming and much more. For detailed programming schedules and more information about this vibrant space, visit www.PittsburghParks.org/SchenleyPlaza.

Cycling Track

The Bud Harris Cycling Track, a half-mile oval loop, is a one-of-a-kind attraction, drawing elite cyclists and beginners to its banked corners and slight hill. Formerly a drivers' training course, the facility accommodates track and criterium racing and time trials. The track's flat interior surface is the perfect place for kids to learn to inline skate or ride bikes or scooters.
