

Point Park University | Lawrence Hall | 212 Wood Street, 3rd Floor Ballroom | Pittsburgh, PA 15219

Preserving the Past by Planning for the Future

November 16, 2015

Time	Activity	Presenter
8:00 – 8:30	Event Registration
8:30 – 8:45	Welcome
8:45–9:00	Point Park University & Historic Preservation
9:00–10:00	Historic Preservation: Part of the DNA of Pittsburgh A presentation on historic preservation’s impacts on the economy of Pittsburgh which will include information on historic preservation tax credits, real estate values, job creation, and housing affordability. There will also be information presented on quality of life indicators.	Donovan Rypkema, PlaceEconomics
10:00–10:30	Break
10:30–11:15	Finding-out What We Have, Architectural Inventories and Neighborhood Preservation This presentation will focus on defining an architectural inventory and understanding its importance. Results of two recent surveys supported by the Pennsylvania Museum and Historical Commission will be presented.	Angelique Bamberg, Clio Consulting; Sarah Quinn, City of Pittsburgh
11:15–12:00	National Register Nominations, Discussion & Overview of Recent Projects This session will provide a synopsis of National Register nominations as well as upcoming projects. Topic will include what a National Register Listing is and what it is not, as well as the public process included in the nomination process.	Bill Callahan, the Pennsylvania Museum and Historical Commission
12:00–1:00	Lunch (Off-Site)
1:00–2:00	Pittsburgh Conservation District Study, Would Conservation Districts be Useful in Pittsburgh? This talk will include what conservation district and how they are different than what we have now. Additionally, there will be a discussion of developing a community driven process and how managing a conservation district program can be implemented.	Nore Winter, Winter & Co.
2:00 - 2:45	City of Pittsburgh Historic Preservation Guidelines This session will provide information on the historic preservation guidelines that were developed for this document. Mr. Winter will also discuss the intended audience for the guidelines and what each of the City-designated historic districts can do to move forward with updating their guidelines.	Nore Winter, Winter & Co.
2:45 – 3:30	Historic Preservation Topic Panel	Selected Members of Pittsburgh’s Historic Preservation Community

Sponsored by the City of Pittsburgh Department of City Planning

Hosted by Point Park University – Please RSVP to Sarah Quinn at 412-255-2243