

BOARD OF DIRECTORS

CHERYL HALL-RUSSELL

President and CEO

Hill House Association and Hill House Economic Development Corporation

Cheryl Hall-Russell began her tenure as President and Chief Executive Officer of the Hill House Association and Hill House Economic Development Corporation in September 2011. Located in Pittsburgh's storied Hill District, the Hill House Association is celebrating its 50th year of service. It provides a cross section of multi-generational services that support families and its commercial and retail development efforts have catalyzed development in the community. Under her leadership the Hill House completed a long awaited grocery store anchored shopping plaza, hosted the President's Council on Jobs and Competitiveness, received a charter for a drop-out recovery charter high school opening in the Fall of 2014, and has launched a new arts and culture series 'Live from the Hill.'

An Indianapolis native, Ms. Hall-Russell comes to Hill House Association with extensive experience in community and economic development, association management, and public policy. She holds a MPA with a nonprofit concentration, MA in Philanthropic Studies and a graduate certificate in Public Administration all from Indiana University Purdue University at Indianapolis (IUPUI). She serves on several boards including Conservation Consultants, Inc., the Urban Redevelopment Authority and the Hill House Passport Academy Charter School and multiple advisor committees including Pittsburgh Theological Seminary's Metro Urban Institute, Pittsburgh Today, Pittsburgh Public Schools Interagency Council, and the Dean's Executive Council-School of Social Work at the University of Pittsburgh.

Hall-Russell is the mother of two, Adia Joy a student at The Campus School of Carlow University and Cameron, a U.S. Marine.
