A Message from the City Controller

Thank you for taking the time to review the City of Pittsburgh’s Popular Annual Financial Report (PAFR) for the year ended December 31, 2020. The purpose of the PAFR is to increase awareness throughout the community of the financial operations of the City. The report summarizes and communicates the City’s financial condition. For the eleventh consecutive year, this report has received the Award for Outstanding Achievement in Popular Annual Financial Reporting from the Government Finance Officers Association. For a more detailed view of the city’s finances, you can review the 2020 Comprehensive Annual Financial Report, which is available on the Controller’s website.

It’s no secret that 2020 was a year unlike any other. Measuring the overall impact of the COVID pandemic is difficult, and looking at financials is not enough. This report attempts, however, to offer a snapshot of how the virus impacted the fiscal health of the city and the regional economy.

Pittsburgh ended 2020 with a $50.4 million general fund deficit. The City’s total unassigned fund balance shrank in 2020 from $133 million to $85.4 million, a decrease of $47.6 million. Thankfully, the City entered 2020 in a strong position: running surpluses and managing our debt. The City’s unrestricted fund balance (or “rainy day” fund) had more than $130 million in reserves at the beginning of 2020.

Due to the pandemic and related closures during 2020, the City saw significant and substantial decreases in amusement and parking taxes, in addition to a reduction in charges for user services. These reductions in revenues accounted for a deficit that exceeded $50 million.

Despite the setback that 2020 presented, the overall outlook for Pittsburgh continuing into the 21st century and beyond remains stable. The smart savings and spending priorities of the past several years allowed the city to “weather the storm” of 2020 and will also support stable future economic growth. The City’s rebound will be aided by federal support. In 2020, the City received $6,388,162.66 in federal aid through Allegheny County, as the City did not qualify for direct support from the Coronavirus Aid, Relief, and Economic Security Act (also known as the CARES Act). With substantially more direct financial support from the federal government expected in 2021, we anticipate being able to fully offset our financial losses.

I welcome any feedback, comments, or concerns regarding the information included in this report.

Pittsburgh Public Schools

Pittsburgh Public Schools average spending per student continues to steadily increase. A reason for this is the total enrollment has decreased over the last several years while the number of teachers has increased.

Overall Picture
Like most major cities across the country, the COVID pandemic and resulting public health restrictions had a significant impact on the City’s finances. Compared to 2019, Actual General Fund revenues were $56.5 million less than budgeted revenues. Pittsburgh ended 2020 with a $50.4 million general fund deficit. The shortfall was mostly driven by decreases in the parking tax, amusement tax, payroll preparation tax, rentals and charges, and fines and forfeitures.

Parking Tax
The City collects a 37.5% tax on parking transactions, with some of the revenue funding the pensions of city employees. The impact of the pandemic meant fewer people working in offices, traveling, or shopping in neighborhoods where the city primarily collects the tax.

The Pittsburgh Downtown Partnership estimated that before March 2020, downtown served more than 117,000 people on a daily basis, and the pandemic dropped that number by 90%. Parking garage occupancy plummeted in early 2020, falling from 94% in February to 16% in April. As a result, the city saw a $29.3 million decrease in parking tax revenues.

Amusement Tax
As the virus made its way to Pittsburgh in March 2020, events were one of the first things impacted. Shows, games, and conventions were abruptly postponed or canceled, creating a very real social disruption to the city’s landscape. VisitPITTSBURGH tallied the cancellation or postponement of 485 business and sport events.

The lack of these events also impacted the city’s finances in a tangible way. A part of city revenue is derived from an amusement tax, a fee incurred anytime someone attends any amusement in the City of Pittsburgh. This includes any form of entertainment such as concerts, movies, night clubs, conventions, or sporting events. Overall, the missing events cost the city nearly $13.6 million and represented more than 25% of the 2020 deficit.

◆ The Pittsburgh Cultural Trust closed its 30 venues and canceled more than 4,000 events. More than one million patrons were unable to engage and participate in our vibrant cultural and arts scene.

◆ In 2020, the David L. Lawrence Convention Center had a little over 215,000 attend a scheduled event compared to 2019 attendance of 576,315. A total of 93 events were cancelled in 2020 due to the pandemic.

◆ At Heinz Field, due to the virus, public health officials limited access to seating and only allowed 18,102 fans to see Steelers games in person in the 2020-2021 season, compared with 593,960 the season prior. Similarly, PPG Paints Arena saw a significant dwindling of attendance, and sadly, the Pirates were unable to host any fans at PNC Park.
Payroll Preparation Tax

A 0.55% Payroll Tax is levied on all businesses that perform work or services within city limits. The shutdown of non-essential businesses, as well as permanent layoffs and business closures resulted in a $7.3 million decrease in payroll preparation tax collections as compared to 2019.

Fines and Forfeitures

Fines and forfeitures cover a broad range of penalties assessed by the city. $4.1 million less was collected in 2020 as compared to 2019.

The largest sources of revenue in this category are parking authority tickets and traffic court. See further information under Parking Tax on page 5.

Rentals and Charges

Landlords who rent property within the city must pay an annual permit registration fee, which ranges from $45-$65 based on the number of units on the property. Collections on this fee saw a $6.6 million decrease in 2020 compared to the prior year.

Many City departments provide various services for which rent or fees are charged. Examples of these fees include payments for safety inspections, copying City documents, rents from City properties, and the use or sale of rights of way. In addition, the City is compensated for services provided to other municipalities and governmental entities.
COVID – Community Support

The COVID pandemic forced families, businesses, nonprofits, and local governments to adapt to unprecedented challenges. Despite hard times, many local community groups offered a helping hand to those most in need.

The Pittsburgh Foundation
The organization turned 75 years old in 2020 and awarded $67 million in grants, the largest amount in its history. Of that, $14.5 million was collected through special COVID initiative and racial justice funds and granted almost immediately back into the community.

CitiParks
After senior centers were closed, Pittsburgh’s Parks and Recreation Department repurposed many of those facilities to begin distributing free meals to children and seniors. In partnership with local restaurants and food vendors, the department distributed over a half million free meals to residents in need.

POISE Foundation
The POISE Foundation launched the Critical Community Needs Fund to help support Black-led organizations by distributing grants between $5,000 and $25,000.

Greater Pittsburgh Community Food Bank
After the spike in regional, virus-induced unemployment, the organization distributed enough food for more than 45 million meals with the help of 6,000 volunteers. The GPCFB serves/has a network of more than 600 agencies, partners, and programs in an 11-county region.

The Heinz Endowments
In April of 2020, The Heinz Endowments established a COVID Emergency Fund to deliver aid to nonprofits in need. In the first four months, it delivered $11.4 million in grants to at least 80 local organizations to address the severe impact of the pandemic on areas such as health, nutrition, education, child care, employment, housing and equity. Over the past year, the foundation has awarded a total of nearly $20 million in COVID relief to assist individuals and communities in the Pittsburgh region.

412 Food Rescue
As food insecurity became a major issue, 412 Food Rescue stepped in to fill the need. Pittsburgh has the largest fleet of on-call volunteer drivers who use an app to “rescue” surplus and donated food from retailers and restaurants. After the pandemic hit, rescues surged, allowing them to deliver boxes of free food directly to families in need.

When assessing the financial results of the City, it is important that we focus on the City’s General Fund. It is used to account for all regular day-to-day operations, revenues, and expenditures of the City, except those required to be accounted for in another fund. In this section, we will discuss General Fund revenues, the largest of which are taxes.

The City collects taxes from different entities for a variety of reasons. The major categories of tax collections of the City are shown to the right:

General Fund Revenue Fluctuations

Total General Fund revenues decreased approximately $50.8 million or by 9.5%, from 2019 to 2020.

The net decrease of about $50.8 million is attributable mainly to decreases of $29.3 million in parking taxes, $7.8 million in other taxes, $19.3 million in other revenues, and $10.6 million in charges. The decreases were partially offset by increases of $7.8 million in grants, and $7.1 million in deed transfers.

Total General Fund revenues increased approximately $13 million or by 2.21%, from 2018 to 2019.

The net increase of $13 million is attributable mainly to increases of $9.8 million in earned income taxes, $6.3 million in charges, and $6.3 million in other revenue. The increases were partially offset by decreases of $6.6 million in other taxes, and $3.7 million in payroll preparation taxes.

Where Our Money Comes From

Like all governments, the City must raise funds to pay for the services that it provides to its citizens and businesses. These sources of funds, referred to as revenue, are raised through fees, charges, and taxes.

Major Taxes Assessed by the City

The following are the descriptions of the major types of taxes the City levies:

Real Estate Taxes

Real estate taxes are imposed on most property in the City as assessed by the Allegheny County Board of Property Assessment, Appeals and Review. The rate was 8.06 mills on buildings and land.

Earned Income Taxes

This tax is levied at a rate of 1% on the wages or net profits earned by City residents. The City also receives a portion of the Earned Income Tax assessed by the Pittsburgh Public Schools equal to 2%.

Payroll Preparation Taxes

This tax is imposed on all for-profit employers at a rate of 0.55% of the total wages of all employees who work in the City.

Parking Taxes

A tax equal to 37.5% of the consideration paid for each parking transaction is levied on the patrons of non-residential parking places in the City.

Deed Transfer Taxes

A tax of 2.5% of the consideration paid for real property transfers is levied upon the transfer of an interest of real property situated in the City. No tax increases from 2019 to 2020.

Other Taxes

Other taxes assessed by the City include the Amusement Tax, the Institution Service Privilege Tax, the Local Services Tax, and the Facility Usage Fee.
During the years ended December 31, 2020, 2019 and 2018, the City expended its funds as shown to the right. The per capita amounts represent the amount that the City expended on each type of service per resident, while the aggregate represents the total amount spent.

General Fund expenditures increased by 5.2% from 2019 to 2020. Elements of this increase include an 8.4% increase in General Government, and a 6.0% increase in Public Safety. These increases were partially offset by decreases in urban redevelopment and community, recreational, and cultural expenditures.

General Fund expenditures increased by 6.1% from 2018 to 2019. Elements of this increase include a 9.4% increase in General Government, a 5.8% increase in Public Safety, and an 11.6% increase in Public Works.

Where Your Money Goes

Once the City collects taxes and other revenues, the funds must be spent efficiently to provide a variety of services to the citizens and businesses of the City.

Outlook for City Finances

The City’s Cash Position

During 2020, the City continued efforts that had begun in the latter half of 2003 to control costs, improve collections, and maintain solvency. As a result, the City ended 2020 with a total fund balance of $260 million, a decrease of $39.7 million from 2019. $85.4 million of the $260 million is the “unassigned fund balance” which is available for the City to spend.

At the onset of 2020, the City expected cash flows to be sufficient enough to maintain a positive cash position. However, the COVID pandemic and the resulting restrictions put in place to stop the spread of the virus has of course had a negative effect on City revenues. City officials recognize that the impact of the COVID pandemic will be significant, but are optimistic that steps can be taken to manage City finances going forward.

Long-Term Debt

In 2020, the City’s debt increased by $31.1 million to $458.6 million. The increase is due to the City’s borrowing for capital projects.

Despite having the parking tax as a source of revenue, the fund remains underfunded and will require additional funding commitments and cost reductions moving forward. As of the end of 2020, with revenue from the City’s parking tax, the City’s pension fund held approximately 69% of the funds needed.

Pension Funding

Securing funding for the City’s Comprehensive Municipal Pension Fund continues to be a challenge for City officials. Commonwealth of Pennsylvania Act 44 of 2009 required the City’s aggregate pension funding level to be at least 50 percent by December 31, 2010 to avoid having the City’s pension funds seized and administered by the Pennsylvania Municipal Retirement System. The City’s plan to meet this level of funding includes transferring dedicated parking tax revenues through 2041. From 2011 to 2017 the City contributed $13.4 million in parking tax revenue every year.

From 2018 to 2020, the City contributed $26.8 million of the parking tax revenue each year, and will continue to contribute $26.8 million per year through 2041. While the present value of the dedicated future parking tax revenues for future pension contributions did not meet the criteria for recognition as an asset in the City’s financial statements or those of the Comprehensive Trust Fund, it was treated as an actuarial asset for purposes of funding levels under Commonwealth of Pennsylvania Act 44 of 2009.

The City’s total bond issuances outstanding as of December 31, 2020 equals approximately $459 million. Over the past five years, the City has paid off approximately $418 million of outstanding debt, including refodings.
